Subject: Re: Complaint.

To: Walt Tuvell <walt.tuvell@gmail.com>

Dear Walt: I received your complaint today, which was shoved under my door---there was no proper service, and I did not sign for it, so there is no official receipt. Moreover, I did not receive the required demand letter, which you falsely or mistakenly allege that you sent to me by registered mail on or about August 30, 2017. Not only that, but even if I had received such a letter, you are required to wait 30 days to give me a chance to respond. 30 days haven't passed yet, by the text of your own complaint.

I'm licensed to practice in good standing in Massachusetts, and since your complaint is not compliant with Mass Procedure, I will easily get it dismissed. If you want to be responsible, I would be happy to take down all entries in the comment thread that you object to, though they are not defamatory, and I have received independent assurances to that effect from fellow attorney and a Massachusetts specialist in the field. You cannot come back on the blog, and I will not retract my comments, which are my opinion, were stated as my opinion, and remain so.

If you want to waste my time with a frivolous suit, that's your choice. However, I never received the required demand letter, and there is no record that indicates I did. The Summons and complaint is invalid. If you want to handle this like an adult, I will be cooperative.

Jack
